School FFA Pair Win Fair Honors

Two members of the Wayland Central School Chapter, Future Farmers of America, were top winners in the state FFA Small Gas Engine Trouble Shooting Contest conducted at the recent New York State Fair in Syracuse.

They are David Hunt, a senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hunt of Atlanta, and John Pfuntner, a sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pfuntner of Springwater. They each received an award of $90, to be applied toward an educational trip, probably to Kansas City, Mo.

The contest consisted of starting an improperly adjusted engine, a quiz and a parts analysis.

In another event, Ronald Stephens, a 1987 graduate and an FFA member, won sixth place in the state fair's FFA Tractor Operators Contest. He competed with 10 other district winners. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stephens of Wayland, he was awarded a large rosette for his efforts.

At the recent Pike Fair, Hunt, Pfuntner and Damion Mix, a freshman, comprised the Wayland FFA Welding Team winning first place in the district contest.

Stephanie Deussenbery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Deussenbery of Wayland, participated in the Dairy Cattle Judging Contest at the Pike Fair. She placed third in the event.

Terry Mehlenbacher placed second in the District FFA tractor driving contest also conducted at the Pike Fair.

Wayland Police Report to Board

Activities of the Wayland Police Department for the month of August were reported last week at the meeting of the Village Board by David Schubmehl, officer in charge.

He said the department acted upon 23 complaints. There were four escorts, a similar number of assists made to motorists and nine assists to other departments.

Police officers wrote 57 tickets for violation of the vehicle and traffic laws, made five misdemeanor arrests, and one arrest each for violation, driving while intoxicated and accident.

There were three accidents investigated, Schubmehl said, and 13 investigations. One door was found unlocked and eight parking tickets written.

In village court, Schubmehl said 47 persons, pleading guilty to charges, were fined $1,850; there were six dismissals. Eleven persons were arrested by State Police with 10 fined $430 and one dismissal.

ENLISTED ADVISERS

The U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force in 1966 each created a new position of senior enlisted adviser. His primary task is to present the point of view of his service's enlisted men and women on welfare, morale and any other problems concerning them.

Volunteer Squads Busy Last Month

Wayland volunteer firefighters and equipment responded to five alarms during the month of August, according to the report of Chief Randy Moore, submitted last week to the Board of Trustees.

Moore noted the fire department responded to three accidents, one mutual aid and made one smoke investigation. The department conducted three drills during the period.

Of the call outs, one was in the village and three in the town. Volunteers contributed 333 man-hours to the department and community.

Members of the ambulance squad reported receiving 28 calls during the month of which: 13 were of an emergency nature, five transfers, three emergency transfers, one for mutual aid and three for other reasons. There was one refusal.

Volunteers and equipment traveled nearly 1,078 during the month of August making 16 village calls and 10 in the town. A total of 128 man hours were put out by members.

Flash 'Go' Light on Project

The Wayland Village Board at its meeting earlier this month opened the way for construction of a new laundromat with the sale of a village-owned parcel of land at 201 N. Main St. to Robert Lewis of Cohocton, owner of Bob Lewis Electric.

Trustees authorized the sale of the 70- by 80-foot parcel at Lewis's figure of $550 with the stipulation that construction begin within a year or the property will revert back to village ownership.

The Cohocton businessman is proposing to raise a building at the site to house a coin-operated laundry facility, a drop-off for dry cleaning and an office for his electrical business. The laundromat would be the first in the village.

Lewis has been seeking the purchase of the property since last May, but board action was delayed to determine if the sewer system has the capacity to handle the laundromat's waste water.

Lewis said he has satisfied all requirements. He said while he is anxious to start construction — "I want to get my office out of my house" — there may be a delay until spring to allow proper settling of a quantity of fill needed to grade the site.

He said the laundromat will be equipped with 30 machines including washers and driers.

In addition to the dry-cleaning drop-off service, Lewis's office is to include the sale of commercial water and soft-water systems. He said the building will be fully attended at all times.

Trustees were informed by Robert Radell, senior associate for Phoenix Associates Inc. of Rochester, the village soon will be able to draw on its $595,000 Small Cities grant approved earlier in the summer by the federal Office of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for rehabilitation of the village's business district. The firm was appointed by the Village Board to serve as project administrator.

A rehabilitation specialist, a local person, is to be hired to write specifications and inspect projects. Phoenix is currently seeking bids from firms for a project engineer. Bids are to be opened Oct. 8.

School Pact Approved

Negotiations between the Wayland Teachers Association and the Board of Education ended last week with teachers ratifying a wage settlement averaging about 8.8 percent more than they received a year ago. The board approved the settlement at its meeting also last week. The faculty members have been working under the two-year contract approved more than a year ago and earlier this year sought to renegotiate the salary schedule.

New pay scales were being negotiated for the 94 members of the association until talks broke off this summer.

Under the new arrangement, first-year teachers receive a hike of $892 raising them from $16,576 to $17,468. A teacher with 25 years experience will receive $35,044, compared with $33,582 last year.

A teacher with five years experience will increase to $20,387 compared to $18,813; with 10 years experience the salary raises to $24,052, compared to $21,627.

The new salaries are retroactive to July 1 or the start of the school year for teachers who are not paid during the summer. The raises include $106,272 in state Excellence in Teaching funds.

The budget for teacher salaries — including EIT funds — has increased by $233,430.

During the School Board meeting, trustees appointed election officials for the special district meeting Oct. 28. Robert Wallace was named chairman. Named vice-chairmen were Paul Drum, Larry Thomas and Robert McAllister. The board approved also the appointment of 12 inspectors and six clerks.

District voters will return to the polls for the second time since last April to cast their vote for the proposed renovation and construction program that, if approved, could cost up to $7.5 million.

Appointments approved by the board consist of: James Patton, three-year probationary period, special education; Karen Folts, Mina Schubmehl and Karen Wager, all teachers' aides; Carole Day, Pamela Kemp, Mary Lou Kiesel, Deborah Schmidt, Alan Moore, Ann Boss, Bonnie Herron, grade level coordinators; Denise Bartalo, special education; and Frances Murphy, special area.

Appointed department chairmen, Carol Griffen, special education; Ellen Edmond,

Wayland Lions Club Opens New Season

Newly-elected president, Richard Carney, raised the gavel and opened the new season at the first meeting of the Wayland Lions Club in Anne Finn's Restaurant last week.

Sharing official duties with Carney will be Norman Pfeiffer, first vice-president; Robert Newcomb, second vice-president; and William Wittig, third vice-president.

Other officers for 1987-88 are Daniel Wensel, secretary; William Trautlein, treasurer; Donald Williams, tail twister; and Dr. Donald Dolan, Lion tamer.
